

SOMETHING ARTSY: PHOTOGRAPHER-CAMERA MEMORY GAME

Here is a fun and creative game to test your art and memory skills. Grab your siblings, parents, or try it by yourself! Here is how it works:

Two people take turns being the photographer and the camera. The person acting as the camera closes their eyes while the photographer guides them to a pretty scene, whether on a walk, in your backyard or even inside your house. When the photographer has the camera in front of their scene the photographer says “take your picture” The camera opens their eyes for 3 seconds and then closes them, taking a picture in their head! The person acting as the camera then can draw or paint their scene or “photo” from memory. Take turns and see who can most accurately draw their memorized photo and who can find the most unique scene.
